Ex-Convicts Up for Trial for Burglary

Two ex-convicts charged with burglarizing a Limerick market before a wild auto chase, and four Pottstown area men facing charges ranging from hit-run driving to assault and battery, are slated for trial next week in Montgomery county criminal court.

Thirty-three Pottstown area residents have been named for jury duty.

The ex-convicts are Charles R. Minkner, 48, Conshohocken-RD 2, and Donald C. S. Bastress, 42, Philadelphia.

They are accused of stealing a wide variety of merchandise from Limerick fair the past Aug. 17. Jeffersonville State Troopers Raymond Beninato and Clem Seroski caught them after seeing the pair's car roar through a red light at Route 422 and Township Line road.

Frederick B. Smilie will be defense attorney. Their trial is slated for Monday before President Judge Harold G. Knight.

Layman Speaks At Conference Of Churchmen

"Peace, unity and love are among the most important commodities a church has to offer," Irvin Grube, a layman at the Emmanuel Evangelical church, Bethlehem, advised last night at Trinity Evangelical Congregational church.

Grube was the principal speaker at the quarterly conference of the Hometown area Evangelical churches which was attended by persons representing nine area churches.

Churches whose officials were present at the conference were Trinity, Trappe, Zieglerville and Roversford Evangelical churches, in Montgomery county.

Chester county churches present were Pine Swamp and Mt. Zion Evangelical churches. The Boyertown Hosensack and St. Greenville Evangelical churches were the Berks county congregations represented at the conference.

Joint Board OK's $368,910 Budget

The six-day-old Upper Perkiomen joint school board and its seven-member working committee moved into high gear last night in the East Greenville High school in anticipation of the opening of school Monday.

The board adopted a $368,910 budget for the 1952-53 school year, then discussed the possible enlargement of Hereford township (Berks county) school district into the jointure on a secondary level.

Stanley M. Kurtz, supervising principal of the jointure, reported nothing definite was decided on Hereford's prospective membership. Three representatives of the Hereford board present last night will discuss the matter further at their own board meeting, he said.

The joint committee waded through numerous administrative and instructional problems resulting from the jointure of the East Greenville, Upper Hanover, Red Bank, Pennsburg, Green Lane, Marlborough and Sunnyside districts, after the joint board meeting.

County's Park Well Cared for During Summer

Montgomery county residents like their park.

If they did not, said Otto Quinke, superintendent of the county park at Green Lane, last night, they would not have taken such good care of the property while using it.

"There was not a bit of destruction of equipment during the summer," he said. "I have 575 benches, 230 park benches and 125 fireplaces and they are still in good condition" despite the fact that more than 600,000 persons used the park's facilities during the season.

Though he could not give a definite attendance total, the superintendent said the past summer's attendance "is about par with the summer of 1951."

DURING THE extremely hot period of the summer, from the last week of June through July, he said, the park's visitors burned an average of five tons of wood daily. Park employees supply the wood without charge. It comes from dead trees felled in the park during the winter by park attendants. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Limb on Wire Causes Blackout

Douglasville and vicinity last night was blacked out when a heavy tree limb felled a high tension wire.

For some residents, crewmen of the Metropolitan Edison company restored power in a half hour. Others had to wait for approximately three hours.

Firestone Plant Still Struck; All Work Suspended

The huge Firestone Tire and Rubber company remained idle yesterday as pickets continued to guard entrance to the vacant plant.

A fresh picket line was set up at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after 15 curing room workers, suspended this past Sept. 3, decided not to work.

The management-labor tiff started Sept. 3 when the 15 men reportedly walked off their job. They were suspended after this incident. Management sent tire workers home because of the bottleneck in the curing room.

On Sept. 4, pickets collected at the plant and prevented third shift plastic employees from entering the plant. (Continued on Page Eleven)

After 33 Years, Canal Zone Resident Returns to Town

Allen Amole, who had not been in touch with his family in Pottstown for 33 years, was back in both English and Spanish. In English, he agreed that Pottstown was "fine," "good," "very good," "real good" and "swell."

MRS. AMOLE, who speaks Spanish and a little English, said Pottstown was "muy lindo." Mr. and Mrs. Amole's 62-year-old retired customs inspector has decided to leave the tropics behind permanently and settle in his native Pottstown with his family. (Continued on Page Eleven)

Youths Taken For Robbers

Three Pottstown area youths, one of them an AWOL sailor, were made the target of a fast-moving, heavily-armed manhunt yesterday when North Coventry residents thought they might be the three dangerous bank robbers who escaped from Federal penitentiary, Lewisburg.

Although the three youths traveled a mile from the spot near the Harmonyville road where they were originally sighted, the police searchers led by North Coventry Police Chief Daniel W. Guldin caught them in less than 45 minutes.

The three were brought to borough hall, where they established their identity as David Creasy, 17, Kentworth; Edward Weisenford, 17, Douglasville RD 1, and David Christman, 16, 546 Lemon street, Stowe.

Creasy was listed as absent without official leave from the Naval training station at Bain (Continued on Page Thirteen)

Summer Proves It's Still Alive

Call it unseasonable weather or return of real Summer—either way it was hot yesterday.

Mercury in thermometers that had rested below the 80 level for many days suddenly sprung to a high of 85, making yesterday afternoon uncomfortable even for heat-lovers.

Members of the younger set who could escape earlier warm weather with a dunk in the old swimming hole, sweltered in classrooms. With school out in the afternoon, some were seen straggling home minus shirts.

But the weatherman doesn't promise much change today and tomorrow. If anything it will be warmer with high temperatures ranging from 85 to 90.

Doctor Lauds Fund Aid for Ailing Child

When Dr. Roscoe W. Teahan, Philadelphia specialist who is treating Bobby Walters for cancer, heard yesterday the "Fund" had grown to $590.26 in four days, he said, "It's really wonderful what The Mercury's readers are doing for that boy."

The specialist visited Bobby at the Sacred Heart hospital in Norristown Wednesday and hopes to see the 4-year-old cancer and polio victim again today.

Of Bobby's new surroundings, Dr. Teahan said, "Although surrounded by strangers, the boy is in good spirits, but he really perked up when he saw me come into his room because he saw a familiar face. We had quite a chat together."

He reported that Bobby is "eating like nobody's business" and has been accommodated in a semi-private room with another little boy who is also suffering from polio.

"WE'RE GOING to hold off on the cancer treatments for a couple (Continued on Page Eleven)

2-Year-Old Boy Gives Pennies

A 2-year-old boy came into The Mercury office with his father yesterday with 350 pennies and 50 cents in silver.

Little Jimmy Leh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leh, 223 King street wanted to make a donation to the "Bobby Walters Fund."

It had taken him a long time to save those pennies and silver, but when he heard that another little boy was very sick, Jimmy felt he wanted to do something about it.

The father said it happened while the family was sitting around the living room Wednesday night, (Continued on Page Two)

Emphasis on closet space, color and convenient entrances is a feature of this home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Brown at the corner of North Evans and Grace streets. The 2-year-old home, of which a rear view is shown because a front view would be obscured by trees, has all of its rooms on one floor. The upstairs is used only as storage area. The house has three entrances—the back door through the breezeway between the house and the two-car garage (left) and of course the front door. Altogether, there are eight closets, including one the size of a small room which is known in the family as the 'Fibber McGee closet'. There are two big bedrooms, bathroom, a powder room convenient to the patio, a dining room, living room, knotty pine kitchen, utility room and a porch on the breezeway. The house is white with green shutters, pine-paneled gabled areas, two-tone green roof and awnings of maroon and white. All features include wad to wall carpeting and the fact that most walls are painted in pastel colors, with green predominating. The house is built of cement blocks. Stuccoed Brown is owner of Pottstown Cement Block company.

Three field crops—tobacco, cotton and peanuts—account for most of North Carolina's cash farm income.

didn't know the whereabouts of the rest of his family.

The social item told of a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. George Amole, 214 High street.

The Canal Zone Amole wrote the High street Amole, asking if the latter could be his brother George. The affirmative reply strengthened the decision to return to Pottstown.

The family of eight arrived in Pottstown Wednesday afternoon. The grandfather telephoned George Amole at the Merchants hotel where he works and the reunion was arranged quickly.

THE GRANDFATHER said he plans to look for a house in the area, enrol the five youngsters in school as soon as possible and go to work despite the fact that he's earned Civil Service retirement. The family is living temporarily at the Merchants hotel.

Amole's home was in the Canal Zone but very close to the boundary with the Republic of Panama. He recalled that the home was somewhat too close during the more violent Panama elections. Fear gas bombs dropping bullets flying—it was really something.

The Canal Zone is a U. S. territory and all of the family are American citizens, Amole explained.

His daughter added that the Canal Zone did not practice democracy as she understood it is practiced here. "I wanted the children to learn democracy," she declared, "to become good American citizens and not to be Canal Zone ites."

A father wrote this note for his 10-year-old son's offering. Enclosed you will find a check for $5.

Of the huge crowds that occupied the park the past few months, Quinque said:

"I certainly appreciate the very kind cooperation we received from everyone that used the park. I always like to give the credit for the success of the park to them because they use it and if they go out of bounds there is nothing you can do about it."

Five of the park's six picnic areas have been closed. Only one will remain open during the winter.

FIRESTONE STRIKE —

This past Wednesday workers returned for the daylight shift.

A company spokesman last night reported. The compromise of the present strike by a few responsible individuals is resulting in an unnecessary hardship to the approximately 2,000 employees who want to earn their week's wages.

ALTHOUGH 10 DAYS have passed since the present walkout, the company has not received a grievance from the men allegedly involved. By the mutual contract agreement between the company and union no discussion of any grievance can be held while the employees are not at work.

Employees received letters which explain the strike. A copy of the letter is contained in today's Mercury as an addendum.

Former Pastor Here Selected as Speaker

The Rev. Edward L. Schlingman has been selected as the principal speaker for the Revised Standard Version Bible observance to be held here Tuesday, Sept. 30, at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m.

"The Word of Life in Living Language," which is the theme of the observance, will be the topic of his address.

"Boyertown is most fortunate in having obtained the services of the Rev. Schlingman as our community's Bible observance speaker," stated Jesse Mercer, chairman of the planning committee.

He is director of camps and conferences for the Evangelical and Reformed congregation.

He served as pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Evangelical and Reformed, in Boyertown for several years before taking up his present duties in Philadelphia.

ALL CHURCHES of the Fourth District of the Berks County Sabbath School association will participate in the Boyertown observance, Mercer said. At that service, copies of the new Bible will be presented.

Scrap Iron Pirates Loot Philippine Sea Graveyard

MANILA, Sept. 11 (AP)—Scrap iron pirates are looting the naval graveyards of ships sunk off the Philippines in World War II. Senator Carlos P. Garcia wants the Army to investigate. He says the Government is losing money it hoped to realize from the sale of the hulls.

Vacant Desks In School Due To Wage Lure

The lure of high wages paid by Pottstown industries may be responsible for the absence of 79 pupils scheduled to attend the Senior High school and vocational school.

At the Senior High school 68 pupils failed to return to classes this year. Of the total, 18 were Seniors, 18 Juniors and 32 sophomores.

The non-attending Seniors were broken down into those working, three; those attending other schools either in another district or a Junior college, nine; married, one; and unknown, seven.

Juniors who did not return to classes were classified as working, five; in the service, two; other schools, four, and unknown, seven.

OF THE Sophomores, those known to be working are, seven; other schools, 11, and unknown, 14. The vocational school reported 157 pupils were enrolled to begin this year but only 146 are attending. The total registration is higher than the past year's. The 1951-52 school year began with 140 pupils and ended with 136.

Calvin Cressman, director of vocational education, said some of the pupils may have reached 17 during the Summer and taken jobs in industry.

All pupils who did not return to school for the new term will be investigated by the school district. Cressman and Stanley I. Davenport, Senior High school principal, reported.

Fair Weather Assures Crowd at Block Party

Good attendance and fair weather assured the success of the block party last night on Union street below the post office, sponsored by Post 780, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The block party was scheduled in place of the regular meeting. The next meeting will take place Sept. 25.

The party got under way at 6:30 with 13 booths, some selling refreshments and others conducting such amusements as bingo, darts, baseball throwing and a fish pond for the children.

The party lasted until after 11 p. m. Shift changes at the nearby Doehler-Jarvis plant helped swell the crowd considerably.

EARL F. ANTRIM, chief of staff of the sixteenth district, VFW, was unable to attend the party because of an area meeting in Bala-Cynwyd, at the Bala-Cynwyd-Merion post, VFW.

The Vets of the sixteenth district, which includes all of Montgomery county, are organizing a Fall membership drive. The aim is for every member to get a new member in the next three months.

Plans for the drive were discussed at the Bala-Cynwyd meeting.

were elected. Not elected were Harriet Hallman and Elmer Wyant, both hired for this term by Pottstown. Their services will not be required, the committee decided. Music, art and health classes will be instituted in Upper Ham over, Green Lane-Marlborough and Summeytown schools this year. Those are the only schools in the jointure which have not had those educational services.

The committee decided that all Ninth to 12th grade pupils of the seven districts will attend the East Greenville High school. Seventh and Eighth grade youngsters living in East Greenville will be taught in the East Greenville High school.

All other Seventh and Eighth graders will be instructed in the Pottstown school.

Approximately 175 non-resident pupils in the Pottstown school, which does not have a cafeteria, will be fed at noon each day from vacuum containers filled with food at the East Greenville High school cafeteria.

NEW CONTRACTS already drawn for the teachers are expected to be signed by the teachers today. A uniform ten-months contract was established. Some districts previously had nine and nine-and-a-half month contracts before the jointure.

The committee decided that Kupritz should devote all his time to the administration of the jointure's business while William G. Moser, principal of the Upper Perkiomen Joint High school and former supervising principal at Pottstown, tends to instructional administration.

A 180-day school calendar was approved also.

The committee will meet in the East Greenville school the first Thursday of each month. Charles J. Schell, president of the joint board and committee, directed last night's meetings.

Chamber Endorses Editorial in Mercury

Ralph H. Spare, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, agreed "wholeheartedly" at the American Business club meeting last night with The Mercury's editorial yesterday morning which stated Pottstown needs someone to come forward who can bring new industries to the borough.

He stressed the importance of the departure of the Spicer Manufacturing division of the Dana corporation from Pottstown and its effect on the borough.

The 1950 workers employed by Spicer's represent about 14 percent of the 14,000 persons employed by Pottstown industries, he said.

HE POINTED out that though the borough ranks 29th in the state in population it is 13th in industrial development.

William Hillegas presided at the meeting which 20 members attended in the Elks home.

Freedoms Foundation Is 'Catalytic Agent,' Rotary Meeting Told

Pottstown's Freedom Foundation, organized by Valley Forge, is not an organization for the manufacture of ways and means of indoctrinating people with the American way of life as some people believe, the Rotary club learned at its dinner meeting in the Elks home last night.

Richard H. Foltz, assistant to the executive vice president of the foundation, said the organization acts as a catalytic agent to stimulate the distribution of ideas about our freedoms.

The foundation annually presents awards to individuals and businesses which through some media aid in this distribution. The prizes are presented for newspaper editorials, motion pictures, speeches, songs, stories, poems, sermons and other forms of communication.

The 2-year-old organization also has sponsored tours in this country among high school pupils of young foreigners.

THE NINE foreigners spoke to more than 700,000 high school pupils in 47 states during the past three years, Foltz said. He added that the foundation is working with the Boy Scouts in a "Get Out the Vote" campaign.

Richard Geisler, a West Pottstown high school pupil, was introduced as Rotary's student leader of the week, Nelson Levgood, of the same school, entertained with a flute solo.

ties of church officers. He told the group that the officers in the church should never be striven for but once a person is elected to an office he should regard it as a sacred calling. The office should never be resigned, he went on, because to do this would be to "lose spiritual power."

Grube enumerated many of the important duties of the pastor of a congregation. He said the pastor's first duty was to preach the Gospel.

His second important duty, Grube said, was to visit the sick and bring comfort to shut-ins.

Thirdly, he should know the people of the congregation, Grube went on.

BUT IN ADDITION to those three important duties, the guest speaker continued, there are many time-consuming details that members of the congregation should help the pastor perform so that more time could be devoted to the important callings of the church.

Stewards should look after the membership of the congregation and bring only important problems to the pastor, Grube said.

Trustees should keep the church in good order and repair and conduct all business in Christian fashion, he said.

Everyone in the church should work together to promote Christian friendship in the congregation, he concluded.

Presiding at the conference was the Rev. Dr. Harold Scanlin, presiding elder of the Eastern District of Evangelical churches.

The Rev. Clarence Reeder, pastor of the Roversford Evangelical church, read the Scriptures at the start of the conference.

The Rev. Guy Beals, pastor of Zieglerville Evangelical church, made the prayer offering.

bridge, Md. He was held at Pottstown until shore patrol men returned him to Philadelphia.

released after questioning. The three said they had been on their way to camp in Hopewell park. They had canned goods, fishing lines and spare clothing with them.

Chief Guldin received a call at 7 a. m. that Russell C. Weiler, Pottstown RD 2, had seen three men in the woods near his trailer home. He thought they might be the escaped convicts for whom police are making a 13-state search.

The three convicts, all bank robbers, escaped from the penitentiary Wednesday. They are believed to have been responsible for the theft discovered yesterday of shotguns and rifles from a store in West Reading.

The convicts are Joseph W. Valen, 22, his brother, Ballard F. Nolen, 22, both of Whitley county, Kentucky, and Elmer Schuer, 21, Chicago.

Guldin called for reinforcements. Responding were Lower Pottsgrove Police Chief Harry G. Chrusch; Pottstown Police Sgt. Thomas A. Lawler and Motor Patrolman Robert Scheidt, and West Reading State Troopers Arthur McAnally and Lloyd Salmon.

The police posse, traveling in three cars, were armed heavily. The troopers had a sub-machine gun and rifles with them.

The three youths had fled the Weiler property along the Harmonville road before police arrived. By scouring the roads and checking with motorists, the police got on the track of the trio.

The police pulled alongside the three youths as they were walking along the road.

The Rev. Charles Truax is pastor of the church.

The next regular Grange meeting will be Sept. 25. A booster night program is planned.

Told to Meet With Good Will Fire Company were directed last night to meet with the board of directors to determine the size of the appropriation the company must request from the borough to operate the company in 1953.

Those involved in the financial conference are the recording and financial secretaries, the treasurers of the company and its social committee, and the directors.

The company's new ambulance will be delivered before the beginning of next month, he said.

THE 63 members at the meeting, directed by President Leslie Rhoads, accepted 12 new members and received applications for membership from 21 other persons.

A turkey dinner donated by Har- old Wentzel, a member, preceded the meeting in the fire house.

Fire Chief Robert Roth reported that three fire calls during the past month brought the total for the year to 75 and announced the ambulance had answered 100 calls during the month.

Two crews of the Metropolitan Edison company replaced the severed high voltage wire.

Solomon Sherman, Douglassville RD 2, a Ninth grade pupil at Pottstown Junior High school, reported lights went off at 8:30 o'clock.

He reported service restored at 9 o'clock when he resumed his homework chores.

A farewell party was given in recently for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stiles and family. Stiles has accepted a new position and will move from the neighborhood in the near future.

A fellowship supper was served on three tables arranged in the center of the sunny school room. They made an attractive appearance with their cases of flowers, white candles, plates of rolls, plates of baked ham and dishes of apple sauce.

A side table was filled with many varieties of food from which each one served himself.

After the main meal all joined in singing well known songs led by Mrs. Paul Dilworth and accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Newton Reinour. Following the dessert of delicious home made cake, ice cream and coffee, Donald Francis, as toast master, took charge of the meeting. Nevin Mier, secretary, spoke of our loss in losing this family but extended best wishes for their future success.

The Rev. Charles G. Link gave a very practical talk on the value of friendship.

Mrs. Vernon McGeehan favored us with two solo numbers, "God Bless This House" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

Upon being presented with a gift from the group, Mr. Stiles expressed his thanks for the remembrance and also told how happy it made him for himself and family to be guests of honor.

Verses of songs were again used to close this evening of fellowship.

Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. Charles G. Link, Charles and David Link, Mrs. Robert Wilson, Donna and Robert Wilson, Mrs. Newton Reinour Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Newton Reinour Jr., William Newton and Dianne Reinour.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Mier, Jerry, Kenneth and Norman Mier, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wenger and children, Kenneth and Jerry Houck, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mier and sons, Mrs. H. J. Ash, Miss Alice E. Evans, Earl Hawes Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dilworth, Gail George and Linda Dilworth.

Taft and Ike Meeting Is Set

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft will confer here tomorrow with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a harmony talk to cement Republican party ranks.

The Republican presidential nominee's headquarters announced the conference as Taft arrived by plane from Cincinnati.

The 7:30 a. m. (Pottstown time) breakfast conference will be the first political conference of the two since Eisenhower defeated Taft for the nomination.

Taft was in smiling good humor as he stepped from his plane at LaGuardia field late today. He told reporters, however, "I am not going to say anything about the meeting."

But Eisenhower's headquarters said later that Taft would hold a news conference at the Kings Crown hotel after his breakfast meeting with the Republican nominee.

EARLIER TAFT'S Ohio headquarters said he will "speak for the whole party ticket" in a speech at Springfield, O., Sept. 17.

On Wednesday Taft told reporters he would not announce his policy of campaigning this fall until he conferred with Eisenhower.

He was greeted today by Sen. Frank A. Carlson (R-Kans.) as he stepped off the plane. At first he declined to say whether he would see Eisenhower, but after a whispered conversation with Carlson, the Kansas Senator made the announcement of tomorrow's meeting. Taft smilingly nodded concurrence.

Dean Acheson Calls Liberation by Force Disaster Prescription

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson, in obvious reply to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, said tonight that any attempt to liberate Communist-dominated countries by force is "a disaster prescription for disaster."

"We believe, as anyone must who shares the democratic faith, that free societies can and will be more durable, and that ultimately they must exercise a strong attraction that will shift the balance in our favor," Acheson said.

"But if through impatience or upset predictions in the lower house prudence, we are urged to try of the six-nation European steel and or bring this shift about by force, coal community and assured

we are urged to seek the 'libera-Spaak's victory when he withdrew

Highway Blockade Lifted by Russians

BERLIN, Sept. 11 (AP)—Soviet

Gen. Vassily Chuikov called off today a blockade against movement of U. S. military police patrols

The chief of the Soviet Control

Chuikov said the patrols hence-

McGranery Will Throw Open Files on Kansas City Vote Fraud

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—

House investigators disclosed today that Attorney General James

P. McGranery has agreed to throw open the Justice department's files on 1946 Kansas City vote fraud scandals involving possible political dynamite and actual murder.

Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) said he understands McGranery has agreed to permit examination of the complete files, including documents on one case which he said former

Attorney General J. Howard Mc-

Grath refused to give up.

Keating told a reporter Mc-

Granery balked when a House judiciary subcommittee first requested the files several months ago, on the ground that the whole episode had been thoroughly investigated by Congressional committees in the past.

But three or four weeks ago,

Keating said, the subcommittee renewed its request and McGranery yielded.

AT THE Justice department, a spokesman confirmed that the subcommittee has been authorized to examine the files.

The spokesman contended that files on the Kansas City affair have been available to Congressional committees all along and have been in St. Louis he will go to Washington on Monday to check the Justice department's files dealing with the case. Bakewell told the Washington Star by telephone from St.

Louis that it will be the first time the files have been made available.

"I want in particular to find out if any restrictions or limitations judiciary subcommittee which has been placed on the FBI, in its investigation of the case, by the Justice department," Bakewell said.

The vote-fraud incident stems back to the 1946 Missouri primary election in which President Truman sought to defeat Rep. Roger

Rep. Bakewell (R-Mo.), an C. Slaughter (D-Mo.) and elect his other subcommittee member, said own candidate, Enos Axtell.

Truman Says Ike Proposes GOP Isolationist Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—

publican member of the Senate

President Truman said today that

Dwight D. Eisenhower is proposing the election of a Republican

"isolationist Congress"—and he said that won't bring peace.

The President's weekly press conference started off with an attack on what Truman called "the

"One-party press" of this country, ment is uppermost in people's a subject he has referred to frequently.

Truman said newspapers editorially support the Republican party because they "have become big business, and big business traditionally has been Republican."

"I suggest that Americans bear

"this in mind," Truman said, "and

Pottstown WCTU Group Re-Elects All Officers

She stressed the need for "constant prayer and loyalty in working together to further the educational program."

IN THE absence of Mrs. George Kercher, Miss Gertrude B. led the devotion. The theme was "Builders" and the service included hymns, Scripture and a meditation piece called, "We Would Be Builders." Mrs. Maloney offered prayer in closing.

Singing was led by Mrs. Sidnie Graham, vocal soloist, who sang "God Bless This Home." The members were accompanied in singing by Miss Eschbach, pianist.

Mrs. Graham's solo was accompanied by Mrs. Maloney.

The names of officers for the coming year were presented by Miss Marjorie Keim, chairman of the nominating committee, who also conducted the installation services.

Following the installation service, Miss Ecker gave a word of appreciation to the members of the group for re-electing her president, and asked for the co-operation in the tasks ahead.

During the business meeting at which Miss Ecker presided, reports were given by the recording secretary, Miss Eschbach; the corresponding secretary, Miss Gertrude B., and the treasurer, Mrs. Maloney.

IT WAS announced by Miss Keim, leader of the Youth Temperance Council, reported that the opening meeting of her group will take place in the latter part of September.

The flower and welfare director, Mrs. Lester Ulmer, gave her annual report of flowers given, cards sent and visits made to sick and shut-in members during the past year.

IT WAS decided to purchase new song books and literature for monthly distribution and also additional program booklets.

FOLLOWING THE business meeting a program was held in which Mrs. Maloney reviewed the first chapter of the new study book, "Alcoholism or Abstinence," by Aubrey Hearn. Union Signal flashes were presented by Mrs. Roy Kinkiner, and a reading, "Selling Drink to Minors," was given by Mrs. John Schwenk. Ten posters, in color, were displayed and commented upon by Mrs. Catherine Martin. The posters were titled, "Alcohol Impairs the Brain," "Alcohol Doesn't Mix With Football," "Man of Distinction," "Never Take the First Drink," "Be Smart," "Mathematics," "World Racing Champion," "First Training," "Each Contains Equal Amounts of Alcohol" and "Rejected for One."

These will be displayed during the year at various places throughout Pottstown for the youth of the town.

Mrs. Hattie Loughlin thanked the members for cards and letters.

Here's how you tell when a pan of gingerbread has baked enough: The top should have a light springy feeling when gently tapped with the fingers, the sides of the cake should have shrunk slightly from the sides of the pan, and there should be no sticky particles left on a clean toothpick or wire cake tester inserted in the center.

Health Supervision Plans Are Completed by Nurses

Final plans for a health supervision program of the students of St. Aloysius Parochial school were made yesterday afternoon by members of the board of the Visiting Nurse organization.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Herbert S. Eades, 351 Highland road.

The proposed program will become effective within the next week.

AN ANNUAL cost statement, which is completed at the end of each fiscal year, was reviewed, and the result revealed that the cost of each visit during this year was $2.16 per person as compared to $2.07 the past year. Many of these visits were made to patients who were unable to pay and the costs were taken from the treasury of the organization.

It was announced that the board will be represented by Mrs. Arthur H. Simpson at the meeting of the Pottstown Tuberculosis committee on Wednesday, Sept. 17, to make plans for the annual mass X-ray program. The survey will be made Oct. 29 at the Junior High school for the students, teachers and all athletes in both Junior and Senior High school. On Oct. 30 all personnel of The Hill will be examined, and on Oct. 31 residents of the community may be X-rayed at the YWCA.

Policewomen Suggested To Franklin PTA Board

Members of Franklin School Parent-Teacher association executive board heard a plan to hire policewomen for the protection of their children last night in the school house.

Mr. Earl R. Strange, director of safety in Pottstown, brought the plan before them when he gave a talk on the patrols and their needs in Pottstown schools. He explained that because the traffic problem is so great, and there are not enough policemen to be on all congested corners, there are plans to hire eight policewomen who would be on duty at dangerous intersections at the time school children use those intersections.

These women would be sworn in as members of the police department and would have the right to stop traffic—a right the patrols do not have.

MR STRANGE also stressed the urgent need for money to send patrols to Washington, D. C. and Hershey on their annual trips. He also said that some uniforms will be needed, and because the money is not forthcoming from other sources this year, he made a plea to the PTA to back the patrols of their particular school and support them financially.

"The children are well trained," he said, "but it is the adult who needs the training on safe driving and driver's etiquette. If the public would observe traffic regulations, the police and patrol problem would be lessened," he concluded.

Mr. William Butler, principal, spoke in favor of the patrols, and the board went on record as being in favor of backing, financially, the Franklin school patrol for their trip to Washington and Hershey and, if necessary, for uniforms.

MRS. WILLIAM Hurter, president, conducted the meeting, and the program for the year was announced by Mrs. William Gardner, program chairman. She reported that the program will be printed in booklet form and given out to members when they receive their membership cards after the membership drive.

It was announced that a covered dish dinner will be held Monday at the schoolhouse at 6:30 o'clock. School board members will be the guests, and a short business meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, at which time all children will be cared for by adults in one of the other rooms.

At the close of the meeting teachers will be in their respective rooms to greet parents of the children.

The group voted to keep a scrapbook of the year's activities, and the executive board meetings were changed from the second Thursday of the month to the second Wednesday in the schoolhouse. It also was announced that new song books will be purchased for open meetings.

Here's a vegetable relish to go with hamburgers on toasted buns. Mix finely shredded cabbage and onion together; add chopped onion, green pepper, and sweet pickles. Season with salt, pepper, sugar, and vinegar.

Paul Tobias, Mrs. Edith Santangelo, Mrs. Bruce Moses, Barry Lawson, Mrs. Wilbur Rock, Mrs. Charles Fries Sr., Mrs. Earl Learn, Miss Norma Longenberger, Mrs. George Bealer, Mrs. Wayne Swinehart, Mrs. Lucy Willie and Sigrid, Also Miss Sandra Fries, Mrs. Samuel Porter and Zephia Ann, Mrs. Ida Epright, Mrs. Morgan Williams and Linda, Mrs. George Schipph, Mrs. T. Stevenson Asserts Reds Are Driven out

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said tonight "we have driven Communists out of many places of responsibility they may have gained in our society," and "we will not permit them to return."

Speaking against the background of GOP Communism-in-Government as set forth primarily by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, the Democratic presidential nominee said in an address prepared for delivery at the Shrine auditorium:

Ex-Renue Official Indicted by Jury For Evasion of Taxes

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—The federal grand jury indicted today one of the nation's leading tax evaders on charges of evading his own income taxes.

He is Daniel A. Bolich, 52, a veteran of 29 years on the public payroll.

If convicted, he faces a maximum penalty of 25 years in prison plus a $50,000 fine. The indictment alleges five separate counts against him.

Bolich was an unwilling and silent witness earlier this year before a congressional subcommittee inquiring into tax scandals. The committee claimed information that Bolich "received considerable sums of money under suspicious circumstances."

BOLICH QUIT the past November in the midst of the House Ways and Means subcommittee inquiry. He gave his health as his reason. He then was assistant revenue commissioner, second ranking official of the Internal Revenue bureau.

A special federal grand jury in Brooklyn accused him of cheating his own bureau out of $7444 in personal income taxes.

The indictment said he reported a total income from 1946 through 1950 of $54,771 and paid only $6883 in taxes on it.

Actually, the grand jury charged, Bolich made $83,314 during those years and should have paid $14,328 in taxes.

The past April, Bolich refused to answer questions of the House subcommittee as to how he could afford to buy $60 shirts and spend twice his government salary.

In fact, he refused to answer any questions.

The committee wanted to know under what circumstances Bolich received more than $25,000 from J. L. Rutzahn, a former collector of internal revenue at Cleveland and the man under whom Bolich went to work in the bureau in 1922.

The subcommittee also was curious about what, if any, tax fraud cases Bolich had ordered dropped.

Bolich said any answers he might make might tend to incriminate him.

The subcommittee heard that Bolich once lived for 18 months in a $20 a day Washington hotel suite as the guest of Henry Grunewald, the mystery man of the tax probe.

Grunewald also refused to answer questions of House investigators. But he has testified twice before the Brooklyn grand jury that indicted Bolich.

Man Impatient for Death Lights Cigaret

This was a home in Long Beach, Calif. Dominic J. Pepe, 27, who lived there, became impatient for death by gas, according to police, and lit a cigarette. Pepe was taken to Seaside hospital with critical burns after the explosion. Police said he told them he was depressed after his wife and children left him and that he took five sleeping tablets and turned on the gas stove, filling the house with gas. No fire followed the explosion.

Continued Democratic regime than it would be if the Republicans are voted into power in November.

Stevenson said the GOP leadership "sometimes talks big but it acts small" when it comes to meeting the nation's needs.

Stevenson called the Republicans the party of the past and the party of fear, and said "they have always been afraid of tomorrow."

On the other hand, he credited the Democrats with being the party of vision and faith in America's future.

War Bride of Germany Offers to Trade Houses

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 11 (AP)—Want a house in Germany?

If you've got one Stateside you'll swap for it, you're in.

Mrs. Inge Hyde, 23-year-old German war bride now living in Memphis, has a family coming to the U. S. in December or early January.

They're all set — necessary papers, passage booked on the Queen Mary etc.

However, there's a hitch. They can bring only a limited amount of money with them. So her family, father, mother and two sisters, authorized Mrs. Hyde to trade homes with someone in the States. The house is near Munich.

Super Confidence Feared for Party

NEW YORK, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Democratic national chairman said today his party faces the problem of overconfidence.

Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell told a news conference he's trying to cure it by aiming for a November landslide that will break the record of 1936—when the Democrats lost only Maine and Vermont.

A reporter asked Mitchell if the Democrats are facing the problem of overconfidence and he replied: "I think so and I have a cure for it — beat the 1936 record. That's what I told those people today."

Mitchell referred to a meeting earlier with Democratic leaders from 12 eastern States who, he added, exuded "deep, quiet confidence and strength."

The new chairman said the Democratic candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, will invade Texas during his campaign. Some Texas Democratic leaders have put themselves in the Republican corner for the 1952 election.

Officials of Antique Show Predict Crowd

Attendance at the second antique show of the Antiques Dealers' association of Montgomery county is expected to surpass that of the organization's biennial show the past March. The show is Oct. 6, 7 and 8.

Twenty-eight hundred persons viewed thousands of articles at the first show, which was held in Sunnybrook ballroom. October's show will be in the ballroom also.

J. Gordon Robinson, co-chairman of the show with Oliver L. Christman, said last night that more than 50 county dealers will have items displayed for sale from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. during the three-day show.

The themes of the show, he added, will be Early American and Pennsylvania Dutch. The displays will include furniture, glass, linens, china, brass and other materials.

An admission fee will be charged.

Collegians Gain Finals

The Outdoor Basketball tournament was narrowed down to two teams last night as the Collegians solidly whipped Roversford, 62-41. The college boys now qualify to play the Elks in a single game tonight that could determine a tourney champion or extend the playoffs to another game.

Led by Don Zeigler and Vince Rettew, the well-balanced Collegian attack held the upper hand throughout. Low Smith paced the early scoring for the winners by tabbing a pair of field goals in the first periods to push his team to a 12-8 lead at the quarter. After riding the bench most of the third period because of four personals, Smith came back in the last frame to notch two more floor shots.

Alex Pete, high man for Roversford with 18 points, scored two field goals and a foul in the first period.

The Collegians widened the gap to 31-15 at the intermission, due mainly to the sharp shooting of Zeigler and Dick Kovach. The former Lafayette star bucketed almost half of his 15-point total in the second period by scoring three baskets and a foul.

Kovach, a high school junior who has developed rapidly during the summer, equaled Zeigler's output in the second quarter, and ended the evening with an 11-point total.

It was in that period that the winners achieved their best scoring pace, netting 19 points while limiting the losers to eight.

ROVERSFORD'S Russ Cauffman scored five of his eight points in the third period as his team began to hold the Collegians in better tow, although they could not close the scoring gap.

Rettew went on a scoring spree in the final eight minutes by swishing four buckets and a foul for the victors.

Zeigler and Roversford's Bob Foust both went out on fouls in the last period. The game was marked by fine sportsmanship and very little grumbling at Walt Foley, Earl Strom, the referees.

It was at first planned to hold a doubleheader tonight in the event that the Collegians beat the Elks. The tournament is a double elimination, and an Elks loss would be its first.

Should the Collegians go down to defeat, the Elks win the title, already having beaten the campus boys in an earlier engagement.

Director Ed Good said tonight's game will begin at 7 o'clock, and in the event Elks lose the final game will be played at a later date.

Schools Start Grid Season

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11 (AP)—Nearly three-fourths of Pennsylvania's 800 high schools open their 1952 football campaigns this weekend with a battle between two of last year's 13 major eleven sparring the card.

Tomorrow is the first date permitted for inter-school games by the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association. The P.I.A.A. rules 1067 public junior and senior high schools outside of Philadelphia.

Conemaugh Township, which won 19 straight games in 1951 to take the Class A title of the 53-school Western Conference, is a slight favorite in its game with Lewistown, a nine-game winner last year.

The favored Indians have a 14-game win streak going and have taken 23 of their last 24 games. Lewistown has won 16 of their last 17 contests. The Panthers finished in the runner-up position to the Indians last season.

SEVEN OTHER major all-winning teams put their streaks on the line in the opening weekend. Three are cast in the role of underdogs.

A promising Tyrone team is favored over Bellwood-Annis, which won ten straight last year before losing a postseason game. In a clash that will produce another outstanding Western conference contender, Donora is a slight choice over a depleted Pittsburgh Warfordsburg 10, while Franklin Borough, rated the best over Johnstown Cambria 14.

In other games involving 1951's powers, Edinboro 10 is favored over Shamokin Unionport 10, is picked over Gettysburg Normal 10, is the choice over Berksville and Elm Cuthbert 10, rated a 10-0 over Beaver Falls.

Orderd Pete Gray named 225 for the St. Louis Browns in 1945. The Natick, Pa. native played in 77 American League games.

Bocchicchio Wants Referee Who Can Count

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott rested today at his training camp here and as is the custom, when the fighter rests the manager tells the heavy weight champion's skipper, Felix Bocchicchio, took the floor and the subject was referee for the Sept. 23 title fight between Walcott and unbeaten Rocky Marciano.

"There was a lot of criticism of Zach Clayton, the referee in the Walcott-Ezzard Charles fight in Philly the past June," said Bocchicchio.

"Folks in the State of Pennsylvania consider Clayton the most capable official in the State. But as far as I'm concerned the Walcott-Marciano fight will end in a knockout, so I don't care if Marciano's manager, Al Weill, referees the fight."

"Weill can manage and his trainers, Charley Goldman and Al Colombo can be the judges. We'll be satisfied with Weill as referee, for I'm sure he can count to ten, and that's all we'll need that night, a man to count to ten."

EG Coaches Hold Sway in New Jointure

Dave Pritchard, Warren Guldin and Barney Roth, all formerly of East Greenville High school, kept the major head coaching spots in selections released last night by the Upper Perkiomen Joint HS jointure committee.

The coaching assignments were included in the all-over ironing-out session at the old EG school.

Assisting Pritchard in football will be Guldin, and Fran Roncace and Al Nieman. Roncace had been appointed head grid coach at Pennsburg earlier this summer.

Pritchard and Roncace will help in high school and junior high basketball, with Guldin the head man.

ROTH WILL keep his post as head baseball mentor and director of athletics. He'll be assisted in former capacity by Nieman and in the latter by Pennsburg's Norm Snyder. Snyder had been Pennsburg baseball coach.

Coaches in the girls sports will be Miss Fay Kulp and Edna Keyes in hockey and softball, with Mrs. Sara Moser tutoring the cagers.

The move in keeping the EG men in top positions was pretty much expected as the bulk of the athletic material has been under the Greenies staff's tutelage.

Monk Keller will be one of the local drivers competing in tonight's stock car races at Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia. Keller is one of the 9 drivers trying to win his second 25-lap feature race.

STRANGE SCORES ACE

John Strange, Al Bending, Jiggs Hudock and Ralph Rhoads were hurrying to get in a scant nine holes of golf in the twilight last night at Brookside Country club.

And nobody could have accused Strange of stalling for he got down on the ninth in a bare minimum, planting a hole-in-one in the 150-yard, water-obstructed hole.

Strange, of 308 Diamond street, marked up his ace with a five iron shot, recording his first in seven years of golfing.

The stroke of good luck left him with a par 36 for the nine holes. He was two over after eight and scored an ace on the par-three ninth.

Mrs. Freed Wins in Golf

Mrs. Russel Freed won the SpringFord women's club championship Wednesday afternoon by stopping Mrs. Leon Sell, 5 and 4. The title was the sixth annexed by Mrs. Freed over the past seven years.

Mrs. Sell won the crown in 1930, but bowed today as her foe shot an 88-92 over women's par in 18 holes. The match was stopped after 14, but the pair played on anyhow for the benefit of scores.

In the defeated eight, Mrs. Yerger defeated Mrs. John Saylor in the final.

Both finalists of the winner's eight had difficulty in the semifinals. Mrs. Freed downed Mrs. Lowell Groff, 1 up, while Mrs. Sell ousted Mrs. Robert Painter, 2 up.

Wednesday's final climaxed a month's play toward the ladies' crown.

Warriors Get Don Lofgran

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11 (AP)—Lanky Don Lofgran, former San Francisco university star, was added to the roster of the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball association today in a straight player deal with the Indianapolis Olympians.

In exchange for Lofgran, the Warriors gave Indianapolis Mel Payton, former Tulane university player.

Manager-coach Ed Gottlieb of the Warriors also announced the signing of Nelson Bobb to a fourth one-year contract. Bobb, a Philadelphia, played his college basketball with Temple university.

Nobody Gives Rocky Credit—Weill

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Al Weill's visage bore the pained expression of a kid who had just been flunked in geography when he knew he had all the answers right.

"They don't give him no credit," Al was saying plaintively. "No matter who he beats, he don't get no credit for it."

He was speaking of Rocky Marciano, the heavyweight fist fighter who will try to pound the title out of Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia Sept. 23, if he can catch him.

Al is the manager of record of the Brockton Blockbuster. For some time he was only the remote control manager, piloting Rocky with strings which were supposed to be invisible, but which might as well have had neon lights on them.

That was when he was the international Boxing club match maker, and as such was barred from having a special interest in any fighter. He had turned Marciano over to his son, Marty, during that period, but nobody was fooled by the switch.

"When Rocky knocked out Joe Louis," Al continued along the same plaintive lines. "They said he just beat an old man who didn't have it any more, and he just happened to catch him at the right time."

"HE BEAT Harry Matthews didn't he? Matthews was supposed to be a pretty good fighter, wasn't he?"

"WHAT DOES he have to do instead of a sneering 'so what'?"

Falcons, Trojan Jayvees Cheer Coaches in Practice

West Pottsgrove and the Pottsgrove High school jayvees held a solidly built 175-pounder bulled his scrimmage yesterday afternoon way for five and 10 yards per carry, and was seldom stopped by Kasmerovitz and Trojan mentor one tackler.

On defense he came up with most of his team's tackles, and was the real reason the JV's started their passing game.

PAUL FONTANA and Roy Mest were the defensive stalwarts helping the jayvees.

For the jayvees Al Bodolus broke into the clear with a pair of passes from quarterback Wayne Hughes. The tight-knit Falcon defense forced the jayvees to the airways and it proved to be their best attacking weapon.

Strezlecki was most of the

Another back who should stand out this season is Dale Neiman, last year's quarterback who has been moved to halfback by Kasmerovitz.

The disheartening part of Charlie's task of building a "Little" Four winner in the Perk league this season, is his lack of a decent bench. Only 17 boys have reported for football at the Stowe school, one of the smallest turnouts in the school's history.

McCabe's team is made up mostly of sophomores who face a big schedule this season. They will probably not meet another back of Strezlecki's caliber and will develop better defensive strength.

Clark Burns, making his try at new Sophomores came last week, schools, despite the loss of the grid sport did the JV's best in that respect, they're no worse than the other Ivy coaches, but neil third over the protests of Penn runs right into Notre Dame of coach Lefty James. Then two weeks later the edge over Yale, Harvard and could have gone the distance Quakers meet Princeton in a game Brown.

McCabe was quite impressed with Strezlecki's ability and predicted the boy will pick up many a first down in the weeks to come.

The Trojan varsity was run through its paces by head coach Heeb Meyers in preparation for a hard scrimmage this afternoon.

Moose Evens Set, Slaps PAR, 6-3

These final playoffs seem to bring out the extra base hits in a man. For the second night in succession, doubles, triples and a home rolled around at random at Franklin field annex. But this time a different net result was the end realized.

The Moose evens the best-of-five final playoff series in the City Softball circuit at 1-1 by bouncing defending champ PAR, 6-3.

The evening previous, the two clubs had clubbed up the softpill for eight extra-bag blows out of sixteen hits. Last night, it was seven of them out of seventeen.

At least there's one thing left to console the pitchers. The ratio seems to be going down slightly with each game, so there's hope for a moundsman's safety should the series go 10 games.

PAR outlived the Moose, 10-7, but could only manage two triples in the way of anything past first base off Al Rock.

The Refinishers' starter, Don Scherer, lasted three frames, leaving when behind 5-1.

SINGLES by Chuck Klaus and Cy Troyan gave PAR a 1-0 lead in the first, but Dan Glutz of the Moose matched their product with a homer to left in the top of the second.

The Moose exploded in the fourth for four runs that sent the Refinishers reeling and brought on reliever Hank Johnson.

PAR used back-to-back two-baggers by Troyan and Scherer to touch off a two-run rally in the third. The Moose closed down the scoring in the top of the fifth, tallying their sixth run.

Ralph Gonder was the only Moose batter to net more than one hit. He netted a double and single.

For the Refinishers, Troyan's two-base blow and one-bagger were tops, while Klaus and George Searfoss both notched a pair of singles.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A PROUD and domineering lion collared an antelope at the edge of the jungle and demanded, "Who is the king of the animal world?" "You, oh mighty lion," said the antelope hastily. The lion roared his satisfaction and prowled along until he encountered a wise old chimpanzee. "Who is the king of the animal world?" snarled the lion. "You, of course," soothed the chimp. "What monkey doesn't know that?"

The lion was a happy beast until he ran into a huge and ill-tempered elephant. Again he demanded, "Who is the king of the animal world?" By way of reply, the elephant promptly wrapped him up in his trunk, whirled him aloft five or six times, and deposited him without further ado in a bramble bush twenty feet away. The bruised lion regained his feet with difficulty and observed plaintively, "Just because you don't know the answer you don't have to lose your temper!"

"She laughed when I sat down to play," admitted a Michigan sophomore, then added sadly, "He and I knew she was ticklish." Copyright, 1952, by Bennett Cerf. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Postoffice, 'Phones Busier Than Ever, But Banks Still Lag

Postal receipts and telephones in service in the Pottstown area in July established new high, according to a survey released yesterday by the department of public information at the Pennsylvania State college. But bank clearings have dropped to the lowest level since 1947.

Although postal receipts fell an 18 percent drop from June the $22,126 receipts for July brought the total for the first seven months of 1952 to 4 percent more than for the same period in 1951.

The 13,069 telephones in service in July were unchanged from the number in June. The same month period of this year is unchanged from the comparable period in 1951 also, maintaining the record high number of telephones in service.

Bank clearings at $4,206,000 increased 5 percent over June but they are still at a low ebb. For

THE COLLEGE survey reported the business in general in Pennsylvania was off only 1 percent for July compared with the same month in 1951. The bureau of business research at the college expected a drop of 3 percent.

The index of general business in July in Pennsylvania based on the 1935-39 period stands at 324. In June it was 328 and a year ago it was 341. The index is based on the county's proportionate share of the state's industrial power sales.

Roger Lapham Resigns As Aid Chief for Greece

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP) — Roger D. Lapham, chief of the United States Foreign Aid mission to Greece, has resigned and Leland Barrows, his deputy, has been appointed to succeed him.

Lapham, former mayor of San Francisco, had served as top American economic chief in Greece since October 1950. He plans to return to private business. In announcing his resignation, Deputy Mutual Security Administration Director W. John Kenney said "Roger Lapham has served his country long, honorably and well. His two years in Greece have been years of real progress which have helped that courageous nation to recover from the ravishments of nine consecutive years of war."

More Than Presidential

THERE are certain important phases of the coming presidential contest that have been obscured by all the hoop-de-doo over choosing the top candidates, and the tremendous amount of attention that has, quite naturally, been centered on the views and personalities and backgrounds of General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson.

One of these phases is the battle for control of the Senate.

At the present time, the Republicans hold 45 of the Senate seats, and the Democrats 50.

The catch, from the Republican point of view, is that 20 of their seats are in contest this coming November as against only 15 for the Democrats.

It is generally considered that five of these latter seats are too firmly held to offer the GOP a chance. So, if they are to gain a majority, the Republicans must take three of the other nine and hold all the seats they now have.

Thus, a great deal of hard work will be done at the state level in an effort to put the whole ticket over. The hope is that the Eisenhower campaign will gather so much momentum, and that the personal and political appeal of the General will be so great, that he will be able to carry even relatively weak Senatorial candidates with him.

The Democrats, of course, hope exactly the same thing for Governor Stevenson.

It would seem that both parties have done a pretty good job in bridging the rifts that developed at the conventions.

It's quite a trick, for instance, to reconcile such divergent figures as Democrats Byrd and Lehman on the one side, and Republicans McCarthy and Morse on the other.

The Democrats have suffered the most from defections—for the first time in many a moon the Republicans have a chance to break the Solid South and pick up some electoral votes there.

However, it is probable that as time rolls on more and more of the holdouts will return to their respective folds. There is nothing a politician likes less than having his party out of power—which means out of patronage—and the vast majority of them will play follow the leader regardless of differences.

A good many political writers think that the Democrats are working on one issue which could very easily backfire.

This is the argument that Governor Stevenson has the requisite experience for the presidency, by virtue of his stewardship in Illinois, and that General Eisenhower has not, by virtue of the fact that he has spent his life in the Army.

David Lawrence answered this in U. S. News & World Report when he wrote, "Today the head of a vast military establishment does not himself lead troops in the field—he has field commanders for that purpose. . . . His task is planning and over-all administration. . . . He must know how to pick capable subordinates and how to delegate responsibility."

Tomorrow's Larder

FOR thousands of years hay and forage, man's oldest crops, have been taken for granted. Grass, like Topsy, "just grew."

But now with a steadily increasing population and the national appetite accounting for about 60,000,000 pounds of meat a day, it's time to put into practice some of the things that have been learned about pastureage in order to meet this country's vast future needs for livestock products.

Research in this important branch of agriculture has been going on for less than 20 years—a relatively short time. Yet with what has been learned, the productivity of our billion-plus acres of grassland could be boosted by two to six times.

According to a recent article in Country Gentleman, cattle and sheep could be increased in the West about 50 percent, in the North Central and Northeast 24 percent, and in the Southwest 475 percent.

The farm implement industry has made a tremendous contribution to grassland farming through the development of ingenious machines which save labor and make possible higher yields at the same time. Much of the back-breaking work has been taken out of getting in the hay with the development of field pickups, balers, choppers and blowers.

Expensive $100 a pound ladino seed can now be harvested with an amazing self-propelled thresher which picks the clover up off the field, threshes it, cleans the seed, and saves straw for a second run. To top it off, a huge vacuum attachment goes along behind to pick up any seed that may be left on the ground. Use of such machinery has caused output to be as much as one-third.

Wal, I see by the papers where a New York church has installed a record player which plays hymns when a button is pushed. It's about time the jukebox got religion!

And say: A candidate accuses an opposing party of having a "split personality." Who is splitting who?

Backs United Fund

To the Editor: I have been glad to see the United Fund coming along so well in its first months of existence, particularly in attracting old established charitable drives to its fold.

Now that the Fund has announced its $178,000 budget, for this year, I hope the directors can map out an aggressive, hard-hitting campaign to raise the money for all these agencies.

Speaking for myself, I always was reluctant to give much to the old Community Chest because I knew that although it was supposed to be a once-and-done drive, there would be 20 or so other agencies knocking on my door or tapping me at the plant for contributions before the year was out.

But if the United Fund will really forestall all these other drives, I'll be glad to contribute generously, and I believe many other people in this town, just average working men and women like myself, will feel exactly the same way.

Poor Judgment Charged

To the Editor: I read in The Mercury that the borough solicitor (C. Edmund Wells) told a family on Lincoln avenue that has had no sewage facilities for the past year that its case was a private matter.

Since when is it a private matter when the health of a family of seven and of everyone in the area of the home is affected by such an unsanitary condition?

Maybe it's true according to the written law that the borough cannot force the man who disconnected the family's sewer line to hook it up again. According to the law governing contracts and agreements this may be a private matter but it ceases to be a private matter when it effects the health of the community.

It amazes me that a man I have regarded highly could make such a ridiculous statement.

The borough solicitor should keep in mind the needs of the community and take advantage of the flexibility of the law to serve the good of the people.

When the law is used by an individual to further his own interests at the expense of others then it is time that a new legal precedent is set.

Pottstown COMMUNITY-MINDED

Wants Common Sense

To the Editor: Three cheers for Father of Four who wrote to you about how our school children are bamboozled on worrying too much about their clothes. ("Clothes Overemphasized," Readers Say, Sept. 10).

Everybody knows 'uds are impressionable, and it's just too bad that they are fooled into thinking that the way they dress is just about the most important thing in the world.

Never mind studies, relations with their friends and families—no, the only thing that matters is whether their particular variety of dress, sport coat or tie is strictly in fashion.

Oh, for a little common sense!

Stowe TOO MANY BILLS

WASHINGTON

Savings Reach New Peaks Says Secretary Sawyer

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The American people are not spending themselves into the poorhouse, despite a recent government finding to that general unhappy effect.

The official report, which may mean a trip to the White House woodshed for Secretary Maurice J. Tobin, was issued by his Bureau of Labor Statistics the past month. It created consternation in government, labor and Truman-Stevenson circles for fear of its politico economic implications. It declared that the average family in 1950 spent $400 more than it received in income.

It flatly contradicted current pronouncements by economic experts in Secretary Charles F. Sawyer's Commerce department and the Federal Reserve board. Their statistics showed that savings were reaching new highs. It created doubts about Democratic-orators' favorite theme that "The American people never had it so good."

EXPENDITURES: Indeed, it provoked General Eisenhower to ridicule his opponent's contention that Administration policies had produced unprecedented good times. The Republican presidential nominee used it to support his declaration that his aim was to create a "prosperity not based on war."

Discussing the high cost of living at Little Rock, Ark., Ike referred to the official study of consumers' expenditures in 1950.

"Now," he said, "$400 isn't much in Washington, but for people like me—I tell you that it is still some bucks."

He also used the erroneous calculation to embellish the story which reporters have labelled "The Egg and Ike." One reason for the discrepancy between income and outgo, Ike continued, is that one egg carries 100 concealed taxes.

Now it develops that a belated recheck of the Tobin tables reduces the $400 total of supposed overspending to a mere $62. BLS's crestfallen "experts" will soon issue a formal correction of its August estimate, to the satisfaction of Democratic politicians and their labor allies.

But even this figure becomes questionable, and the red ink dissolves into black, if other economic factors are taken into consideration. In fact, a careful analysis of this official, annual study raises the collateral question of whether this and similar government activities justify the millions of taxpayers' money lavished on them.

ABNORMAL: The BLS's original report failed to make clear that 1950 was an abnormal year, in that the outbreak of the "Korean police action" touched off a rush of buying in the wholesale and retail markets. Consumers were guarding against prospective shortages, remembering World War II days.

In the months before and after the invasion of Southern Korea, department store sales showed a 22 percent increase. There was a similar demand for goods late in the year. The consumers were hysterical rather than normal. They also stored up with durable goods—automobiles, television sets, radios, washing machines, household equipment, etc.

Since there were no credit restrictions then, most of these purchases were made on the installment plan. It is obviously unfair and inaccurate to list as 1950 expenditures the bills which would not be paid for anywhere from 18 to 24 months. Only the amount discharged in 1950 should have been itemized in the survey for that year.

The Tobin statisticians also treated insurance premium payments as disbursements. Most people figure that a fairly large proportion of their insurance investments represent savings and they should be figured as such.

A quick glance at the behaviour of consumers in 1951 supports this theory that the 1950 figures are highly dubious guides to the economic status of the average American family.

The Voice of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

(Dorothy Kilgallen is on vacation. Pinch-hitting for her today is the popular television star, Garry Moore.)

Garry Moore Writes:

"THOSE TV ACTORS." I've heard people say, "they really have the life. Sitting in front of a camera and kidding around for an hour or so. Why, it's easy! Anyone can do it!" And as I wearily climb upon the train each night for Rye, I sometimes get tempted to button-hole one of these armchair critics and say, "All right, you take my place for a week!"

Because, you see, contrary to appearances, the more informal a show, the more work and preparation that it goes into. A successful ad lib format is one which only looks spontaneous, and ad libbing TV performers is only as good as his ability to prepare himself with material in advance. The material? Just follow one basic principle: Anything interesting is entertaining.

I must admit I have an advantage over my other television personalities. Instead of working for a month on one show, and then not being seen again for another month, I'm on for an hour each day. Consequently, if we fall flat one day, we can make it up the next. In addition, we're able to expand and do many things that other shows couldn't even consider doing.

FOR INSTANCE, I sat up one whole evening reading a book I found thoroughly engrossing. I was so impressed with the contents that the next day I devoted a half hour to it on the show. Some people would say this isn't television, there's no action. But the response was overwhelming, proving viewers don't always need a dance team or caving comedian to entertain them.

This brings me to a point I feel very strongly about in regard to television. Too many people, in television and out, feel that any show that appears on the screen between the hours of 9 in the morning and 6 in the evening is more or less stopgap entertainment. They feel that the housewife at home hasn't the time or inclination to tie herself to the TV set and watch show after show.

"She has to do her housework," they say. This is very true, but the fact remains that the woman at home is just as interested in hearing, if not seeing every moment, a program that does not underestimate her. We've been gratified to learn that our so-called "think" pieces draw a greater favorable response than any other facet of the show.

I FEEL IT's a form of narrow-minded segregation to class daytime TV and the housewife in a special bird-brained niche. That housewife, together with her husband, comprise the evening audience too, remember. Does she suddenly at 7 p. m. reposes her brains which have been in the deep-freeze all day? Not at all! She has different preferences during the day, to be sure, but we have found she'll stop her chores to sit down and relax to see what's going on.

After all, it's the woman in the home who molds the likes and dislikes of her family. She governs what she believes her children should see or hear. She wants them to be exposed to programs that are entertaining, yes, but above all, suitable. She is against off-color jokes that are utilized just because they may bring a laugh.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

JANE R., 24, is a charming girl who teaches school.

"Dr. Crane, for six years I have been in love with a boy I met in high school," she said, and the tears began to well up, even as she spoke about it.

"Our engagement had been announced and the wedding day was set. Then he informed me that he didn't want to get married. He said he guessed he had changed his mind."

"Naturally, I was heartbroken. I felt I could never forgive the shock. . . . But my parents urged me to teach school, as a means of getting my mind off myself."

"Except for my love for my parents and my being a Christian, I am afraid I would have committed suicide. For I still love this boy. Would it ever be fair to marry another man, without loving him?"

Jane has gone through such an emotional shock that she feels drained of all capacity to love another man.

Even if she were to meet some eligible males, she cannot imagine herself ever falling ardently in love with one of them.

That's how we all tend to feel when in the midst of such great grief.

But Jane can fall in love again and be even more happy than ever before. For love is not an emotion that you can experience only once. It is like fear and rage and grief, in that you can feel it many times throughout your life.

So I told Jane to pick out an eligible suitor on coldly analytical grounds. Make sure that he has those good traits and family background which augur well for success in marriage.

LOVE IS AN educational process. It is a cluster of habits, each pleasantly tinged, which revolve around a desired individual.

Pick a desirable individual, as you would select a good violin or piano in the event you wished to learn how to play thereon.

Then go through the proper motions. Go on dates to the movies or the opera; to church or to school parties.

Be lavish with honest compliments, and he will soon begin to return them with compound interest. You will then begin to relish each other's company.

Love is also like music in that it inevitably is evoked if you simply go through the proper motions.

Pottstown Sketches

"When you're in town, Art High, be sure and have my baby shoes bronzed!"

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

A New Word . . .

It's A Miracle . . .

* MIRACLE—Maybe you haven't heard it as yet, but Alladin rubbed no bright lamp than the test tubes and retorts from which, jinni-like, a new word has joined the language—"petrochemistry." The word appears in few dictionaries as yet, though it is widely used in industrial journals. In the daily life of 155,000,000 Americans, however, the magic of petrochemistry is at work wherever they turn. In oil unlocked from the earth are raw materials that are increasingly being transformed into man-made articles. These raw materials are the petrochemicals . . .

BLACK MAGIC — When Colonel Edwin L. Drake drilled his famous oil well near Titusville, Pennsylvania, in 1859, the automobile had yet to be built, ships ran on coal or wood or sail, and no one guessed that within a few generations the world would use billions of barrels of petroleum for fuel alone. A prophet who might have predicted that furniture polish and strange plastics, medicines and munitions, insect killers and women's stockings would someday be made from the gummy black substance in the ground would have been laughed down. . . .

* CHEMICAL BUILDING BLOCKS—Yet today these and thousands of other products in daily use are made from petroleum and the byproducts of petroleum. A recent estimate put the figure at more than 5000 such products. Petrochemistry, in little more than 25 years, has become a two billion dollar industry. It is only just beginning to grow. A compound known as ethylene is one of the basic petrochemicals. It is made in an oil refinery, much as gasoline is made. From it comes synthetic rubber, antifreeze, rayon and other synthetic fibers, plastics, paint and varnish, anesthetics, dry cleaning fluids, candles, cosmetics and soaps. . . .

A BILLION pounds of detergents are made from petrochemicals in a year. Industrial alcohols and acids, building blocks of chemical processing, are taken from the oilman's bag of wonders.

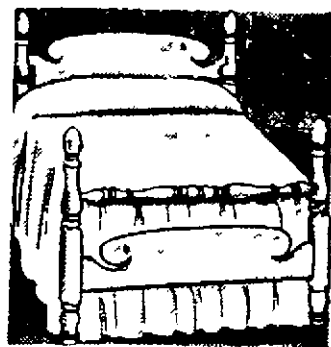

In fact, the petrochemist claims in all seriousness that he can take from oil practically anything now made from coal, from wood, from plants or animals—as well as many things which can be made from none of these. . . .

* FISH STORY—Commercial fishermen catching menhaden along the Atlantic coast can tell the "mostest" if not the biggest fish story. Drawing a 1200-foot purse seine around a school of menhaden, they often catch 100,000 fish at one time, and catches of half a million menhaden have frequently been made. A "set" of six to seven million is on record, but the net broke and all were lost. Menhaden average three-fourths of a pound in weight and one foot in length. They are not used as food, but provide commercial fertilizer.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By IRV ROLLMAN

GERALD G. RICHARDS, BROWN STREET, SANATOGA, is a contractor who likes to work. Hobbies and other outside interests have to take a back seat with Richards whenever his work is concerned. His days are long and there is always enough work to prompt Mrs. Richards to say that he is seldom home.

When he is home, however, there is always plenty to do. But when things quiet down and Richards finds himself with a little time on his hands, there are always his duties as a father.

Gerald G. Richards

"When I get a chance to sit around the house," Richards says, "then these two little roughnecks want to play. That keeps me plenty busy."

The two little roughnecks are his two sons, David, 3, and Robert, 2. And the boys are very active. Richards, a veteran, with three years in the Navy. He was born in Eaglesville on Sept. 9, 1921. He attended school in Pottstown and was graduated from the Senior High school in 1939. After graduation, Richards spent three years studying carpentry at Williamson Trade school in Media.

For about four months following his graduation from Williamson in 1942, Richards worked at the Black aircraft company in Newcastle, Del. In October of that same year, he entered the Navy. Richards served about six months on the East coast, the greater part of which was spent at the Willow Grove Naval Air station. In 1943, Richards was transferred to the naval air station in Ottumwa, Iowa, and four months later in September, he was shipped to Camp Shoemaker, near San Francisco. The next year, in May, Richards was sent down to Port Hueneme, Calif., but two weeks later, he was back near Camp Shoemaker at San Bruno.

Richards stayed at San Bruno for about a year. In June, 1945, Richards was shipped overseas as a maintenance man in a torpedo boat repair unit. He landed on Okinawa, where he stayed for about three months until he was shipped back to the states. Richards was discharged from Bainbridge, Md., on Nov. 28, 1945.

"I got tired of just lying around while I was in the Navy," Richards said. "So I went right to work. I wanted to be doing something."

Richards worked for a contractor for about four years after he was discharged. In 1949 he went into the contracting business for himself.

Since that time he has been pretty busy. Most of his work is custom building. He has done a great deal of remodeling and has built some homes. In his three years as a contractor, Richards has built about ten homes in the area. Two of the homes are in Swamp and one is in Royersford. The remainder are in and around Pottstown. He is currently remodeling a store in Phoenixville.

Richards is a Pottsonian until 1943, Mrs. Richards says. That was the year he was married. On Nov. 11, 1943, he married the former Elaine Brown, of Sanatoga. Mrs. Richards, a graduate of Ursinus college, taught history in the Pottstown Junior High school for five years until 1948.

Despite his work, Richards has found time to participate actively in the Builders Exchange, in which he holds the position of secretary, and the Pottstown Lions club. He is also a member of the church council and secretary of the Sunday school at St. James Lutheran church.

For three years, until 1950, Richards taught carpentry theory and construction principles in the veterans night school program at the Pottstown Senior High school. When his contracting work began to interfere with teaching, Richards was forced to quit the program.

All is not work, however, for the 31-year-old contractor. For some time now he has been playing clarinet with Hookie's Dutch band. The 12-man group has played its specialty numbers at several local firehouses. Richards played clarinet with the Pottstown band during 1948 and 1947.

"Music is really my hobby," Richards says, "but right now I have so much to do that I'm kept too busy to devote too much time to music. That's one of the reasons I had to quit the Pottstown band."

ASSISTANT HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPALS are usually the sort of people students try to avoid. But, that's not the case with J. Robert Von Drach, 60 King street, assistant principal at Pottstown Senior High school. Von Drach is an individual who smiles easily and shows a great deal of sincerity when speaking with people.

This sincerity is an asset in his job as assistant principal, since his work is primarily guidance work. The job deals with interviewing the pupils and the parents if necessary. The administration of guidance testing is under his supervision.

Von Drach is a busy man with his many jobs at the school. He has been custodian of the High school funds since 1941 and he supervises all dramatic presentations and social events, as well as all fund-raising activities. In addition he is head of the business education department and teaches business law and arithmetic. And in the evening, Von Drach works in the office of the Veterans school program at the Senior High school. He has been doing this since 1947.

Von Drach is a native of Reading who came to Pottstown at the age of 10. He was born in the pretzel capital on Sept. 2, 1903. His family moved to Pottstown after Von Drach finished the fourth grade. He attended school here and was graduated from the Senior High school in 1921.

After graduation, Von Drach attended the Philadelphia Business college for one year. At that time, only one year of study was required for certification as a teacher of business subjects. He taught one year at the Philadelphia Business college and then took a job as an accountant with the Atlantic Refining company.

A year later he took a job as secretary in a Philadelphia furniture company. But in 1926 he went back to teaching and took a position on the staff of the Camden Commercial college where he taught for three years.

In the latter part of 1929, Von Drach came to Pottstown senior high as a teacher in the business education department. Twelve years later, in 1941, Von Drach was made head of the commercial department. In 1951, just ten years after taking over the department, Von Drach was made assistant principal of the high school. He has been with the borough school for about 24 years.

Von Drach is an active man in the professional organizations to which he belongs. He is a past president of the Pottstown Teachers association. For about ten years he had been delegate from this district to the state convention of the Pennsylvania State Education association. And he was delegate from Montgomery county to the national convention of the National Education association for one year.

Von Drach is an elder at Trinity Reformed church. He had been a deacon for four years, a trustee for two years and treasurer for five years. He also was superintendent of the Sunday school for a year and taught a Sunday school class for about four years.

On October 2, 1925, Von Drach married the former Frances White of Germantown. Mrs. Von Drach was one of his first pupils when the 42-year-old business teacher began teaching at the Philadelphia Business college. The couple has two children, a daughter, Mrs. Joan Taylor, who is teaching science at Media High school, and a son, Robert, who is a Junior at Bloomsburg State Teachers college.

For relaxation, Von Drach likes to read. Mystery stories are a great favorite of his, but he also likes historical novels and current events magazines. He is a Perry Mason fan, but his favorite novelist is John P. Marquand.

Von Drach is also a collector. He has a collection of more than 3000 Indian head pennies and lacks only eight coins to complete a series of pennies issued since 1856. Von Drach started the collection about 25 years ago and has built it up merely from coins he could pick up. He never bought any coins from a collector. He also has a collection of steins, some of which are rather unique examples of the European art.

Great Lakes Ship Rams Lighthouse in Detroit River Fog

AMHERSTBURG, Ont. Sept. 11 (AP)—A Canadian lighthouse, its beacon obscured by a heavy early morning fog, was toppled off its foundation today by an ore-laden Great Lakes freighter unable to navigate the Detroit river's twisting course.

The keeper, J. E. McGuire, barely escaped death when the impact hurled him into the deep and chilly water. But he clung to wreckage in the water until a small craft rescued him, and suffered only from shock and the loss of three front teeth.

The boat, the E. J. Kulas, went aground after the mishap but freed itself later. The extent of its damage, if any, was not known.

A short time earlier another loaded downbound freighter, the George R. Fink, had missed a right turn at a "Y" in the river, struck a channel marker and dived Broadside across the upbound channel.

THE TWO separate accidents blocked the heavy river traffic for six hours, forcing more than 30 ships to drop anchor. Both ships were equipped with radar and it was not immediately learned how they became lost in the fog, reportedly the worst of the season. Traffic was resumed by mid-afternoon, however, even though the Fink was still aground.

McGuire said he rang the lighthouse bell vigorously when he saw the Fink heading into the wrong channel.

"About 20 minutes later I heard another ship coming toward me," he said, referring to the Kulas. "She came out of the fog so fast I didn't have much chance to see her."

The Kulas crashed into the lighthouse just four feet from where McGuire was standing on a catwalk circling the beacon. The fog was so thick that H. Grant Duff, who rescued McGuire in his boat, rammed into the stranded Kulas.

Two tugs, aided by three Coast Guard cutters, freed the Kulas, which is owned by the Wilson Transit company of Cleveland.

Adventists Announce Offering to Aid Five Missionary Schools

A special missions extension offering will be taken up at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Sanatoga Grange hall, at its regular service tomorrow. Pastor Donald Riesen announced last night.

The assistant supply pastor urged members to share their privileges with the less fortunate of other lands. At least five overseas schools are to be established or enlarged with the help of the local church and other Adventist groups in North America.

With over $5,377,515 already contributed for missions in the first half of 1952, North American churches will devote this Saturday's offering to an educational and medical fund.

Elder Clarence C. Duffield, supply pastor, will speak at morning worship at 9:30. David S. Martin and Russell Boyer Sr., local lay elders, will assist the pastor.

Mr. Duffield and his assistant, Mr. Riesen are filling the pulpit on alternate Sabbaths since Elder Charles H. Seitz former pastor for the Pottstown, Norristown and Phoenixville churches, was called to the Chesapeake conference. He is now the young peoples' leader there.

Mr. Riesen is a ministerial intern, recently graduated from the Seventh Day Adventist Theological seminary, Takoma Park, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (AP)—An air force board today cleared Col. Allen W. Reed of any responsibility for the black market activities for which his wife was recently convicted in Germany.

The board, made up of five generals, exonerated Reed after studying the records and evidence. It recommended that the Fairfield, Iowa, Colonel be retained on active duty.

New Building for Truce Talks

While a Red soldier stands guard, workmen put the finishing touches on the almost completed building at Panmunjom, Korea, that will be used for conferences by the United Nations and Communist truce negotiators. The hut replaces the tents used for talks during the previous year. It is built of straw mats on a concrete base.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Dawe of Parkerford and Mrs. Ethel Cleavey, send their greetings from Southampton, England after crossing the Atlantic aboard the new liner, S. S. United States.

Their message reads: "We had a wonderful trip. The ship was beautiful. There was plenty to eat and everything going fine."

A picture of the luxurious liner, the world's fastest ship, is shown on their card.

From Lexington, Va., comes a card signed Mrs. Abram Mack, Royersford RD 1, who writes:

"Having a nice time vacationing down here in the beautiful Shenandoah Valley of Virginia."

On the advice of Police Sgt. Daniel J. Linton, he went to Pottstown hospital's dispensary where the slight puncture wound was treated.
